LEO BROWALDH

FULL-STACK DEVELOPER

PROFILE

Broad experience from various industries and roles, including running my own business, that has taught me to work independently and with a solution-oriented mindset. With a background in science, international work experience, and a strong curiosity, I am a structured software developer passionate about creating solutions that make a real difference. I work with modern cloud-based development and build systems with a focus on architecture, clear code structure, loose coupling, testability, and scalability.
